Cigar Manufacturer Furnishes Evidence and Then Changes His Mind.

TELLS REFEREE OF PLOT

Supreme Court Justice Decides Buxbaum Is Unworthy of Belief.

A husband who says he agreed for $100 to furnish the evidence upon which his wife could get a divorce then changed his mind and decided that he didn't want to be divorced is declared in a report filed in the Supreme Court to be unworthy of belief. Upon this report it is expected that Supreme Court Justice Newburger, who heard the divorce case, will grant a decree for the wife.

The suit was brought by Mrs. Rosie Buxbaum against Morris Buxbaum, a cigar manufacturer. Buxbaum did not appear to defend the suit, and Mrs. Buxbaum's witnesses told of following him to a hotel and getting evidence necessary for a decree. Justice Newburger reserved decision and before he could ct Buxbaum applied to Justice Greenbaum to open his default and permit him to appear in defence. His affidavits set forth such an amazing situa-tion that Justice Greenbaum appointed ex-Justice Greenbaum official referee to take testimony and determine the

In his affidavit Buxbaum said that for the last two years his wife has been BIGGEST FLOATING enough money. He said her relatives asked him to permit her to divorce him "to marry a man of wealth who will provide her with all luxuries."

He said that under an arrangement with his wife he took all his belongings from the house one night, and her detectives were outside waiting for him. He had arranged to have a woman him and the detectives followed him after he met her and broke into the room of a hotel where he had gone with her. Buxbaum insisted that he TO BE BUILT IN GERMANY had committed no act upon which a divorce decree could be granted.

When examined before Referee

Freedman the defendant said: "My wife couldn't have treated me more cruel than if I was 1,000 per cent. worse than I was. When she suggested it I was willing to let her get a divorce and we had it all arranged so that her witnesses could follow me where I had an appointment with a girl
